News At The Top

This kind of turtle top would live a 24-hour life if you'd let it. It goes under shirts, layering jumpers and tunics, or by itself with jeans and skirts. This body-slim sweater by Naughty Niks just can't be stopped.

One of its nicest characteristics is its fabric, a super-soft knit called "Ariana" by Ge-Ray Fabrics. This lightweight, supple knit is made from yarns of "Orlon" acrylic which means complete machine-washability, quick-drying and the luxury feel of natural. These are all-important facts to the on-the-go teen as well as her busy Mom.

THE CHANGING TIMES

Everything is farther than it used to be. It's twice as far from my house to the staiton now, and they've added a hill that I've just noticed. The trains leave sooner, too, but I've given up running for them because they go faster than they seened to.

Seems to me they are making stair cases steeper than in the old days. The risers are higher and there are more of them because I've noticed it's harder to make two of them at a time . . . It's all one can do to make one step at a time.

Have you noticed the small print they are using lately? Newspapers are getting farther and farther away when I hold them . . . and I have to squint to make out the news. Now it's ridiculous to suggest that a person of my age . . . needs glasses, but it's the only way I can find out what's going on without someone reading aloud to me. That isn't much help because everyone seems to speak in such low . . . voice that I can scarcely hear them.

Times are changing. The material in my clothes, I notice, is shrinking in certain places. (You know, like around the waist or in the seat). Shoe laces are so short they are next to impossible to reach.

Even the weather is changing. It's getting colder in the winter, and the summers are hotter, than in the good old days. Snow is so much heavier than when I attempt to . . . shovel it, and rain is so much wetter that I have to wear rubbers. I guess the way build windows now makes the drafts more severe.

People are changing too. For one thing, they are younger than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people my own age are much older than I am. I realize that my generation is approaching middle age.

I ran into my roommate the other night, and she had changed so much that she didn't recognize me. You've put on a little weight", I said. "It's this modern food". She replied . . . "It seems to be more fattening".

I got to thinking about the poor dear this morning while I was dressing. Stopping for a moment, I looked at my own reflection in the mirror. They don't use the same . . . kind of glass in mirrors anymore.
